UPHOLSTERER A SUICIDE

Frank Hellquist Shoots Himself Through Head

BEED BONE TUESDAY NIGHT

Left Note Saying the Revolver was the First He Ever Had and the First Shot He Ever Fired—Mental Trouble Probable Cause of Act

Frank Hellquist, upholsterer at Summit avenue, killed himself in his place of business about 9 o'clock on Tuesday night, by the use of a revolver. He discharged a bullet through his head and death must have been instantaneous.

The body, on the right side of which the revolver lay, with five cartridges in the chamber, was found by Policemen Michael Sullivan and John J. Gannon and Mrs. Hellquist, lying on a heap of swagings in the rear of the store at 9.15 o'clock, about fifteen minutes after Hellquist's wife had received a note from her husband which read as follows:

"Annie, come to the store; I am sick."

The note was delivered to Mrs. Hellquist by a boy in her apartment in Springfield avenue. She hurried to the police station and Sullivan and Gannon accompanied her to the store. Later Chief of Police George W. Brown had the body removed to Brewster's morgue.

Family troubles are believed to have caused Hellquist to end his life. His wife and he had been living apart for several weeks. He wrote letters, all of which bore date of April 12, to Chief of Police Brown, "To My Wife, Annie," "To My Daughter, Mrs. Annie Larson, 133 St. Johns place, Brooklyn," "To my Brother Louis Hellquist," and "To the Undertaker, who will bury me."

Hellquist's last letter was at 11 o'clock on Tuesday night. It was a request for a kind way to come to Summit that her sister may see her and that the two may have an understanding. Yours truly, Frank Hellquist.

"P. S.—The revolver was bought of Mr. Norton to-day, the first I ever had, and the first shot I ever fired."

Hellquist was about forty-five years old, and had been in business here for fifteen years. He is said to have had two wives previous to his marriage to the present Mrs. Hellquist.

The dead man leaves five children, two of which are by the present Mrs. Hellquist. He was a member of McClellan Council, Royal Arcanum, through which an insurance of $3,000 is said to be left to his three older children. He was also a member of Crystal Lodge, I. O. O. F., and an exempt fireman.

That Hellquist had planned the suicide was evident from the letters he left and the detail left in relation to his business.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, and were conducted by the members of Crystal Lodge, I. O. O. F., and the interment was at Stanley.

Princeton Glee Club.

The Princeton Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Club arrived at the Summit station last evening, sixty strong, and were taken in carriages and automobiles to the various homes where they were entertained. Over 500 tickets were sold in advance insuring the success of the concert financially. Some of the Princeton Alumni sent out invitations for a small dance to be held after the concert last night in appreciation of the kindness of the Musical Clubs of Princeton in giving a concert for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. They engaged Beechwood Music Hall for the latter part of the evening. Good music was arranged for and light refreshments were served.

The dance was given under the patronage of Mrs. Henry Beste, Mrs. Richard Franklin, Mrs. Marshall Geer, Mrs. Charles Grant, Mrs. Charles Jenks, Mrs. Walter Libby, Mrs. Parker Page, Mrs. Norman Schultz, Mrs. John R. Todd, Mrs. Frederick Topping, Mrs. Benjamin White.

TO FIGHT FLIES-AND MOSQUITOES.

Thus Declares Board of Health—Gives Directions How to do This.

The April meeting of the Board of Health was held on Monday evening. Little was done outside of the general routine business.

Now that the board has its own laboratory and a biologist employed, closer attention is to be given the supply and delivery of milk.

Dr. William H. Lawrence, Jr., president of the board, announced that the milk supply in Summit last year was the best in the State.

An ordinance providing that no milk shall be delivered, stored or transported here at a temperature above fifty degrees Fahrenheit was given first and second reading.

Plans were also made for a warfare to be carried on during the summer against flies and mosquitoes. This matter was brought to their attention by Mr. Hoyt, who reported that oil had been received and the work of spraying water places for the extermination of mosquitoes would be resumed as in previous years.

A report presented by Mr. Hoyt was adopted by the board in the hope that householders will take advantage of the information which was as follows:

Flies—Danger—Flies feed on filth and carry the germs of typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diarrhoea and dysentery.

Prevention—Flies breed in filth and refuse: (1) remove refuse, garbage and manure at least once a week; (2) keep refuse, garbage and manure covered tightly; (3) sprinkle chloride of lime, lime or oil on the garbage and manure. Cure—(1) screen your house carefully; (2) screen your food carefully; (3) kill the flies that enter your house by burning pyrethrum powder; they fall to the floor and may be swept off; (4) if there is a nuisance in your neighborhood let the Board of Health know.

Mosquitoes—Danger—Malaria and yellow fever are spread only by mosquitoes. Prevention—Mosquitoes breed only in water: (1) Do not allow even a teaspoon of water to stand on your premises; remove old tin cans from your back yard; examine your rain water leaders, roof and cellar to see that no water is there; (2) kerosene oil sprinkled on a pool of water kills the mosquito; (3) use of DDT; (4) if you know of an untreated pool of water tell the Board of Health now.

On the suggestion of Mr. Hoyt the board adopted a resolution requesting the Mayor to issue a proclamation requiring all dogs running at large to be muzzled.

SUBSCRIPTION CONCERT

Last One of the Season Given on Tuesday Evening

The last Subscription Concert in the present series was given on Tuesday evening, April 12, in the Beechwood Music Hall and was attended by the same large and enthusiastic audience that has greeted the artists at both preceding concerts.

Before the program commenced an announcement was made on behalf of the committee in charge, to the effect, that while there had been a very large and cordial response from the subscribers expressing a desire for a series next year not all had yet been heard from. Sufficient time had been given for the replies to be sent and now applications from new subscribers would be received in the order in which they were sent and the old subscribers might be in some danger of losing their tickets if they did not respond promptly.

The committee feels that it has proved its point that Summit people are musical and want and appreciate the best there is. It feels also justly proud of the standard of the concerts offered during the past season.

The song recital by Reinold Werrenrath was a fitting close to a delightful season, and words fail us to express the pleasure he gave and to adequately characterize his work.

He is one of the youngest of the successful concert singers but preserves all the traditions of the "old school." An admirable exponent of "bel canto" (the admiration of the old Italian School) he is also fully at home in modern impressionistic compositions. A very sonorous baritone voice of wide range without a single harsh or strained tone in all its compass added to a refined mind and a cultivated intellect and that "subtle something which we call 'personal magnetism' makes him an ideal artist for such recitals as he gave here.

The literary and elevated tone of the program was quite apart from the selections of songs made by the singer. The program was planned to please the musical tastes. The evening before he sang here he gave a recital in New Haven before the students of Yale University, and the dignity and manliness of his singing always appeal to the men in his audiences. To cite only one instance, none of all the many men who have essayed "Danny Deever" can give it the genuine atmosphere which Mr. Werrenrath does. They dwell too much on the gruesome qualities and reduce it to mere pathos.

In his rendering one gets an impressionistic picture of camp life in the famous British army. Danny is "a sneaking shotin' hound," he has done a deed so contemptible that hanging is too good for him and the order has gone out for his punishment. It's all in the day's work to "Tommy Atkins" and he goes through the routine with the military precision that is expected of him but even to his unimaginative mind there is something weird and terrible about sending a soul out into the awful "unknown" and it's pretty hard on the "raw recruits."

Miss Ware's illness and consequent failure to appear was a disappointment to the audience but did not interfere in any way with the program as Mr. Baker is such a thorough master of the art of accompanying that he gave Miss Ware's accompaniments with as much sympathy as the composer herself could have done, and the rare beauty of her songs was not lost to the listeners.

FORTNIGHTLY ELECTS OFFICERS.

The Fortnightly Club held its annual election last Wednesday afternoon and afterwards listened to a lecture by the Rev. Frederic C. Brown of the Summit Unitarian church, on "Sensationalism." The lecture was not the result of the election, as the ticket named by the Nominating Committee was quietly and unanimously voted; but was one of the prearranged talks on the Fortnightly Club program, and looked forward to by the club, who had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Brown during last winter's course. It was a plea for the power of strong quiet doing of duty as opposed to the "yellow" methods so much affected in modern life, and was listened to with earnest attention and warmly applauded.

The board elected for the following club year was as follows:

Mrs. P. R. Mac Neille, president; Mrs. Rollo Ogden, first vice-president; Miss M. O. White, second vice-president; Mrs. George F. Vreeland, recording secretary; Mrs. C. R. Bard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Newell H. Stewart, treasurer. Directors for two years: Mrs. J. J. Allen, Mrs. J. H. Mac Cutcheon, Miss Louise Morris. For one year: Mrs. Lemuel Skidmore, Miss J. R. Bonnel and Mrs. O. B. Merrill.

Interesting Paragraphs Picked Up At the Association

The Y. M. C. A. Gun Club will hold the first shoot of the season this afternoon, at 4 o'clock, on the club grounds.

Mr. Charles D. Ferry, vice-president of the Young Men's Christian Association, will speak to the boys at their meeting to-morrow afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock.

The first tramp of the Hikers' Club was taken on Saturday last when fifteen boys started on a ten mile tramp in charge of Mr. John Milligan and John S. Read.

The gymnasium classes closed this morning for the season to re-open on Monday, October 3. In the Junior Department, Edmund Reeve and George Falkenberg were present at every class session and will be awarded gold medals. Henry Voegtlin was second and Lester Reeve third and will be awarded silver and bronze medals.

The Camp Wawayanda folders have been received from the State Committee and can be secured by applying at the office. The following have signified their intention of attending camp this year: Fred Allemen, Lawrence Morrison, Milton Wright, Byron Walters, Arthur Sherwood, Herbert Dean, Arthur Brown, Edmund Reeve, Lester Reeve, Marsh Alesbury and Norman Gardner.

The Laymen's Conference at Silver Bay, Lake George, last year proved such a success that it was decided to hold another this year at the same place on August 5-14. The leading laymen of our city could spend part of their vacation at no finer place than on the shores of Lake George one of the most beautiful lakes in the world. Some of the greatest platform men and religious leaders of the country will take part in these meetings and we expect that a large number of men interested in religious work will avail themselves of this opportunity.

Mr. John W. Weeks, formerly secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., spoke to the boys at their meeting last Sunday afternoon. Mr. Weeks spoke on "What to Read," "When to Read," "How to Read," and urged the boys to spend more time on books of biography, history, poetry, sociology, philosophy, the lighter books of science, essays and the better books of fiction. Instead of so much newspaper reading during the week, to summarize on current events by reading the Literary Digest, Outlook or other reviews, not forgetting the daily reading of the Bible.

GET STRONG

The failing in strength of many at this season is due to lack of sufficient iron in the system. You cannot have the "snap" and "vim" of perfect health without a sufficiency of that necessary element of pure blood, Rogers' Beef, Iron and Wine.

Is the best and most agreeable preparation of iron to take. The iron is in a form easily assimilated. In combination with the juice of fresh beef and stimulating, old sherry wine it makes a remarkably prompt strength and health restorer.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Miss Jennings and Mr. Campbell Married on Tuesday Evening.

At the home of the bride's father, Mr. William E. Jennings, of 232 Springfield avenue, on Tuesday evening, was solemnized the marriage of his daughter, Miss Marion Adele Jennings to Mr. James Samuel Campbell, a promising young lawyer, of Cooperstown, N. Y.

The bridal party consisted of Miss Marion Conger, maid of honor; Miss Nell Taylor and Miss Belva Jennings, bridesmaids; Adrian Pearson, of Cooperstown, best man, and Edward Campbell and Ralph Jennings, ushers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Sidney Seabury Conger, of Cooperstown, N. Y., a brother-in-law of the bride. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with carriage-muslin lace. Her veil was of tulle and her bouquet of white sweet peas, lilies-of-the-valley and ferns.

The bridesmaids' gowns were of pink messaline and chiffon and they carried pink sweet peas.

The house decorations were pink and green, and especially artistic was the bower of palms, ferns and syringas, under which the ceremony was performed. Other flowers used extensively were Southern magnolia, asparagus fern, ropes of smilax and bankings of cherry blossoms. The table decorations were bride roses and pink shaded candles.

A reception followed the ceremony which was largely attended by the numerous friends of the bride and groom, who vied with each other in extending congratulations. The bride is a young lady of many graces of mind and person, who is capable of filling the home she will adorn with happiness and will prove to be truly a helpmate and companion to the husband she has chosen to honor with her hand.

After a wedding journey the newly married couple will reside in Cooperstown, where Mr. Campbell has a home, fully furnished.

BOARD OF TRADE

At the April meeting of the Board of Trade, Dr. William E. Jennings, Jr., of this city, head of Overlook Hospital and president of the Board of Health, gave a most interesting and instructive talk on "Milk and its Relation to Public Health."

Among other things he said that co-operation with dealers in milk by the authorities and education in the scientific methods of milk production are all that is needed to bring about and maintain pure milk. That the public will be obliged and should be willing to pay more than at present for milk when it is known to be absolutely pure. He also stated that the residents of this city were being served with as pure milk as is served in any municipality in the State.

On the conclusion of his address a vote of thanks was extended to Dr. Lawrence for his able and interesting address. It was also voted that it be published and copies distributed throughout the city.

In the absence of the president, Col. Allan B. Wallace, vice-president W. C. Renwick, presided. The committee on annual banquet reported that owing to the numerous dinners which were to take place this month, it seemed advisable to defer the annual dinner until fall, and a motion to that effect was adopted.

With the transaction of items of routine business the board adjourned.

KING BASEBALL HERE

Various Big Leagues are Already Under Way

Y. M. C. A. OPENS TO-DAY

Will Play the Bedford, Brooklyn, Association Teams on the Park Avenue Grounds—High School Wins Eleven Inning Game from Chatham

Old King Baseball has arrived. The National and American leagues opened their season on Thursday in various cities on their circuit, and from now on the supporters of each team will anxiously watch the progress of their favorites, ready at any moment to show you how, and why their team cannot be beaten out for premier honors, and quote you statistics galore in support of their contentions.

Aside from the interest in the National, American and other leagues throughout the country, there are many cities, towns and villages throughout the United States where interest in the success of their favorites will be ripe from now until October, and Summit will be one of the places which will watch with pride the outcome of the games in which the local Y. M. C. A. will participate.

The season here will open this afternoon, when the locals will cross bats with the Bedford Y. M. C. A. team of Brooklyn.

We have already given an outline of what the management of the team purpose doing in the way of improvement to the Park Avenue grounds and it is unnecessary to repeat the proposed plan. It is necessary to say, however, that the work will not be completed in time for the opening game, and fans will be asked to bear with a little inconvenience for at least one game, after which it is expected the work will be rapidly pushed to completion and there will be no cause for complaint thereafter.

The complete make-up of the team has not yet been decided upon, as the manager has been unable to thoroughly sift the material and name the eligibles for all the positions, and it will be necessary to play the various candidates in their positions in an actual game, so as to see how the men will act under fire so that the best man can be picked for the position. With a view to eliminating as soon as possible material not considered sufficiently strong for the regular positions, it is likely that the management will play twelve or fourteen men in the game today, giving all candidates a chance to show what is in them.

We will repeat again—that Hubert Long and Dennis will be relied upon for the pivot position on the team until "Lep" Long gets home from college, with the possibility of another candidate for substitute coming out, as it is known that Dennis does not appear over anxious to do any battery work. Halsey will be depended upon to do the backstop work, while Wilson will in all probability hold down the tobacco corner again, no candidate so far putting in an appearance for the torrid spot. One or two of the other positions are fairly well settled, but no definite announcement has yet been made.

As we have said before, it looks very much as though the Y. M. C. A. was going to have a pretty strong team this season, and some good baseball will be witnessed before the summer is very far advanced, and it behooves the fans to be out to every game if they do not want to run the chance of missing some fine sport.

The local High School team won a hard-fought eleven inning game from the Chatham High School nine at Chatham on Monday afternoon. Summit made a big start, and had the home nine 8 to 3 at the beginning of the fourth session, but by good, uphill work, Chatham tied the score in the sixth. It remained a tie up to the ninth, when Summit sent two runners over the plate, and the game looked to be theirs, but Chatham came back in their half and tied the score again. Neither side tallied in the tenth. The hill city team pushed two men over the plate in the eleventh, while the host the home team could accomplish in its half was a single tally, which meant defeat. The fielding features of the game went to Shrumpt, Summit's left fielder. Score by innings:

MT. MCKINLEY SCALED; NO COOK RECORDS

Fairbanks Expedition Reaches Summit of Mountain.

The Fairbanks expedition to Mount McKinley, the highest peak in North America, reached the summit after a climb of one month from the base. No traces of Dr. Frederick A. Cook's alleged ascent were found.

The expedition, which was provided with Dr. Cook's maps and data, endeavored to follow his supposed route, but utterly failed to verify any part of his story of an ascent.

Thomas Lloyd, leader of the expedition, arrived at Fairbanks, Alaska, on Tuesday. His companions were Daniel Patterson, W. R. Taylor and Charles McGonigle. All reached the top of the mountain.

Mr. Lloyd said: "We made a thorough search of every part of the summit—where it was possible for any records to have been left, but failed to find any American flag or documents or any box such as were said to have been deposited there by Dr. Cook."

"If they had been placed there they must have remained on the spot, and we should have found them. We discovered absolutely no trace of any man being having reached the summit before we got there."

The expedition left Fairbanks Dec. 16 while the controversy over Dr. Cook's disputed ascent was still raging. The plan was to go into camp on the mountain as high as possible and probably about the middle of May make a dash for the summit.

Four camps were established during the ascent, and a trail was blazed all the way to the crest. Up to 12,000 feet the climbing did not present unusual difficulties. For the next 4,000 feet the way led over a steep ice field, which at first seemed to forbid further progress, but through which upon exploration it was found impossible to locate a path.

The final dash to the top was made from the 16,000 foot camp.

Mount McKinley terminates in twin peaks of equal height, one somewhat rounded and covered with snow, the other composed of bare and wind swept rocks. On the rock peak the Fairbanks climbers placed an American flag in a monument of stones.

The Fairbanks expedition has been the only one to venture upon the mountain, well equipped for the task. The expedition was led by Thomas Lloyd, a former prospector and mountaineer. They were thoroughly equipped so far as the physical details of the expedition were concerned. Their stories are straightforward and convincing. They have not dealt with the scientific aspect of the expedition as yet, but have contented themselves with declaring that they visited both peaks of McKinley, the one a bare rock peak and the other covered with ice and snow. On neither did they discover any trace of a former visitor.

SIX DEAD IN JAIL FIRE.

Captain, Lieutenant and Four Firemen Perish at New Haven.

In a fire that practically destroyed the county jail in New Haven, Conn., on Wednesday, with a money loss of $200,000, six firemen lost their lives. They were Captain Charles L. When the fire broke out there were 300 men and 30 women prisoners in the jail. The fire was discovered on the second floor of the workshop of the jail and is believed to have been caused by crossed wires.

Colonel James A. Geddes, commander of the Second regiment, C. N. G., was appealed to by Sheriff Hugo for militiamen to guard the prisoners, and three companies of the Second regiment were sent to the jail to assist in taking the prisoners from the burning building.

FOREIGN NOTES OF INTEREST.

Sir Morgan George Crofton, Bart., was granted a divorce by the probate and divorce court of London from his wife, who eloped with Lord James Montagu, known also as James Walter Douglas. The elopers were traced to the Hotel Gotham, in New York, and Sir Morgan tried to induce his wife to give up Montagu, but she refused.

Katherine Cecil Thurston, the novelist, obtained a divorce in London based on charges of her husband's misconduct. Thurston, whose novel "The City of Beautiful Nonsense" was one of the successes of 1909, told his wife, according to the testimony, that it was necessary for him in carrying out his literary work to go down into the very depths of society.

PARDONS COL. COOPER, SLAYER OF CARMACK

Tennessee's Governor Saves Convict From Prison Term

After the Tennessee supreme court had handed down a decision on Wednesday confirming the sentence of Colonel Daucus B. Cooper and reversing, with a recommendation for a new trial, that of his son Robin, both of whom were convicted for killing former Senator Carmack, Governor Patterson pardoned Colonel Cooper. He said:

"Being thoroughly familiar with the record, having read all the testimony and testified to certain facts within my personal knowledge, it is neither desirable nor necessary to delay action for petition to be presented asking executive clemency."

Colonel Cooper and his son Robin of Nashville were found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment for killing former United States Senator Edward Ward Carmack, the editor of the "Nashville Tennessean," on the afternoon of Nov. 9, 1908. The tragedy and the subsequent trial stirred Tennessee as no similar occurrence had done in the history of the state.

Ex-Senator Carmack ran for the gubernatorial nomination on a state wide prohibition platform in the primaries held a few months before his death. His opponent, Malcolm R. Patterson, who was strongly supported by the anti-prohibition party, had the support throughout the campaign of Colonel Cooper. Feeling ran high, and when Patterson won the nomination and the election Carmack referred to Colonel Cooper editorially in a manner which angered Cooper greatly.

Several times Cooper sent warnings to the office of the Tennessean demanding that editorials in which his name appeared should be discontinued. Carmack took no notice of Cooper's warnings, and on the day of the tragedy there appeared in Carmack's paper an editorial which held Cooper up to ridicule.

Upon the appearance of this editorial Colonel Cooper, accompanied by his son Robin, started to walk to the statehouse to see Governor Patterson, intending to challenge Carmack to a duel.

On their way they met Senator Carmack, and Robin Cooper shot him dead.

ROOSEVELT HAS LONG TALK WITH PINCHOT

Deposed Forester a Guest of Ex-President in Italy.

Former President Theodore Roosevelt arrived at Porto Maurizio, Italy, on Sunday, where he and his wife were guests at the villa of Miss Carrow, who was formerly Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary at the White House.

The entire population of Porto Maurizio turned out to greet Colonel Roosevelt. His carriage was pelted with flowers, and he was presented with the freedom of the city.

Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester, lately deposed for his charges against Secretary of the Interior Baileigh, visited Mr. Roosevelt at Miss Carrow's villa, and had a long talk with the former president.

The president of the municipality sent the following cable message to President Taft:

President Taft, Washington: "Colonel Roosevelt arrived last night at Porto Maurizio and was received enthusiastically by the whole population. Porto Maurizio, proud to welcome the great American citizen, sends to president of the United States heartiest greetings."
PAULIANO, President of Porto Maurizio.

President Taft's reply to the dispatch from the municipality was as follows:

I have received your courteous telegram announcing that President Roosevelt has arrived in your city and been received enthusiastically by your whole population and that your city was proud to welcome him.

I beg to assure you and all your countrymen that the American people are very, very grateful for and greatly appreciate the reception which Italians, from the sovereign to the humblest subject, have accorded to our most distinguished citizen.

JOHN D. GIVES $162,000.

Rockefeller Helps Building Fund of Fifth Avenue Baptist Church.

In twenty-eight minutes on Sunday the Rev. Charles F. Aked, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, raised $324,000 by appeal from the pulpit for funds to build a new church. He asked for half a million dollars. The congregation subscribed $162,000, and John D. Rockefeller gave $162,000.

Mr. Rockefeller promised dollar for dollar up to $250,000. The congregation will try to raise $58,000 more, and Mr. Rockefeller will cap this with a like sum, making the $500,000 which the church is to cost.

SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1910

SHOULD NOT BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY.

The charges made by the New York newspapers that the closing hours of the Legislative session were marked by scandalous proceedings should not be taken seriously. Those who sat up with the legislators during the wearying grind on the night of the 6th, know that nothing of a disgraceful character occurred either in the Senate chamber or the House of Assembly.

There was the usual horse-play about the lower house, which was undignified, but not scandalous. This has been a feature of the closing hours of the legislature for years, and there has never before been serious complaint against it. It injures neither character or reputation, and does no harm to the people. There is reason to doubt that anything occurred in one or more of the side rooms to warrant the newspapers in making the statements that they have made. Certainly nothing happened for which the entire legislative body can be held responsible, because, with few exceptions, the members were in their seats constantly till the hour of adjournment.

THE State of New Jersey had no more faithful servant than Senator Ernest R. Ackerman in the Legislature which concluded its work last week. That Union county made no mistake in selecting Mr. Ackerman as their representative in the Upper House has been amply illustrated. He was ever alert to protect the interests of his constituents and the State at large at the sacrifice of his time and his health. As the leader of the majority on the floor of the Senate he proved himself the equal of any layman who ever held that trying and honorable position, and retired with the confidence and esteem of the entire body, regardless of party. His painstaking, careful and critical review of each piece of legislation was appreciated by each Senator. He employed at his own expense two competent clerks, one being a lawyer, to assist him in the detail of the duties of the trying position as chairman of the Judiciary Committee. It is safe to say that the residents of the State will never know how much they owe to the faithful and conscientious services of Senator Ernest R. Ackerman.

SENATE BILL No. 135 introduced by Senator Minch, of Cumberland County, has been signed by the Governor and is now a law. It legislates out of office in all third class cities, (which includes Summit), the assessors and collectors on the appointment of their successors, and provides for their appointment by the Common Council, and for a board of three assessors instead of two.

SENATE BILL 253, by Senator Brown, has been signed by the Governor and is now a law. It takes effect on July 2, and makes it compulsory on all persons, resident or non-resident, desiring to enter matrimony, to obtain a license from the registrar of vital statistics or similar officer of the municipality. The fee for such license is $1.

Forty-five years ago last Saturday witnessed the final event in the greatest civil war the world has ever known—the closing of the war between the North and South—when Grant and Lee clasped hands and said, "Let us have peace." Time has healed the old wounds and to-day there is no North and South.

A Long Job.

"Where have you been for so long?" asked the head man of the menagerie. "Been watching one of the animals clear his throat, sir," replied the attendant. "But does it take half an hour for an animal to clear its throat?" "Yes, sir; it was the giraffe, sir,"—Yorkers' Statesman.

The Swimming-Tee For Sellers.
Admiral Schroeder has caught such a bunch of Uncle Sam's jacks who can't swim that his report of the fact to Washington may cause the authorities to stir up and stir better. Over 2,000 men in one small fleet who don't know how to swim is an object lesson on naval recruiting. These men are not recruited to swim, but to do work on shipboard. Yet getting overboard is incidental to navigation in ordinary times, to say nothing of battle. The admiral has the authority of common sense, if no other, for making swimming a part of the nautical education of the men in his command.

Nearly every shipping accident brings to light the fact that a large percentage of the sailors on board cannot swim. Men who go to sea are tenacious of life, and yet many of them neglect the most valuable life-saving equipment of all. Swimming is easy to learn, and, unlike some branches of exercise, the art is not quickly forgotten. A man overboard struggles for life anyway. Mastery of a few simple strokes may enable him to struggle to some purpose.

One of a family of twelve boarders refused to join in boycotting meat and choked to death on a breakfast steak. An alderman choked to death on a free lunch slice of beef. A little more of this, and the boycotters will have some reason to think the Lord is on their side.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch says Emma Goldman "wishes revolution, not reform, and would rather fight than vote." If Emma's own doings are any guide, she prefers getting arrested above everything else.

With a housebreaker captured by a woman in every day's news it looks as though this burglar catching by women business may be a clever stratagem.

The fact that Peru is buying mules in big lots is no reason for a war scare. All the world is now thinking of horse-meat for a reserve.

Peary's idea that Roosevelt should now go after the south pole is a hint that "back from the pole" makes a bigger man than "back from Elba."

"Cannibals must go" is a very forcible cry until doubts pop the questions "When?" and "Where?"

The groundhog had the last laugh on those who ridiculed his performance Feb. 2.

Education by Discussion.
It is doubtful if the sponsors of the federal incorporation measure now before congress believe that it would get popular indorsement at this time if submitted to the people at the polls. The discussion of the bill at this session is likely to be animated and may become bitter. The whole country will take part in the discussion, and every phase of the plan will be subjected to a searching scrutiny and analysis.

Important legislation is often put through in a hurry. If it is in advance of public sentiment the result may be unfortunate. There is a large sentiment in favor of some such measure as a federal incorporation law. But whether this particular bill before congress will mend the situation is now an open question. Free discussion will bring out its weaknesses and its strength.

The only substantial benefit to be derived by corporations from the proposed federal incorporation law would be in the relief it would afford from petty and harassing prosecutions by states afflicted with too radical executives and too radical legislatures.

It is pleasant to learn that President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor succeeded in preventing 100,000 men from going on a strike, but decidedly unpleasant to find out that so big a strike was imminent and menacing.

There should be no flagging in the movement for safeguarding lives of miners until a substantial reform has been attained and the United States is relieved of the scornful accusation that its people hold life in low regard.

A Canadian senator says that Russia stole Alaska and sold it to the United States. As the sale took place forty odd years ago Uncle Sam isn't worrying about his title.

Life's Turning Points.

The climacteric years are certain years in a man's life that were long believed to be of peculiar significance to him as turning points in his health and fortune. These are the mystic number 7 and its multiples, with odd numbers, 21, 35, 49 and 63. The most important of all was the sixty-third year, which was considered fatal to most men.

Staggering.

MISS PORTER AT THE HOTEL PLAZA.

The Evening Sun of April 13, gives the following criticism of Miss Porter's recital at the Hotel Plaza on Tuesday night:

Quebec homespuns and old garret-room rags lent a fresh local color to the stage while even a French Canadian housewife's bedquilt of wool and flax overspread a royal Louis Quinze grand piano-case in the Hotel Plaza ballroom last night at the first recital of Dr. William Drummond's poems by Miss Grace Cleveland Porter. The speaker put off some Southern plantation stories to let Canadian "habitant" pieces come first. And she did not mix her dialects up. Indeed, she read a letter from Sir C. A. P. Pelletier, the Lieutenant-Governor of the province, in which he asked to remind her audience that the spoken French of Quebec was and is the language of the old noblesse of France, and remains to this day Parisian.

The growing interest in Dr. Drummond's poems filled the ballroom of the Plaza last night with a large and enthusiastic audience. Miss Porter gave her readings under a copy of the American and British flags. Her selections included many old favorites of our northern voyagers and hunters, among them, of course, "Johnnie Corbett," and Miss Porter had schooled herself to a perfect command of the quaint speech of the St. Lawrence farms. Her rendering of the poems was something of their own, and the memory of the well-loved Canadian singer, whose voice was stilled too soon.

The little Irish "Cure of Calumette," Father O'Hara, was the first of Dr. Drummond's famous characters to be presented to last night's audience, by request. There was "Dominique," as well as "Leetle Bateese," for those elders who have infants' terrors of their own, and "The Last Portage" of a little white-frocked boy. The "Wrack of the Julie Plante," that made "the Doctor" famous, had to have an encore, and any sportsman who hadn't seen trout jump in "Leetle Lac Grenier" could at least hear Miss Porter blow a real birch bark horn in "Johnnie's First Moose."

The giver of this recital did a real service to Dr. Drummond's admirers, especially to those who aren't yet, but ought to be. He was a poet of all-outdoors and an All-American for whom there was neither racial nor Continental divide.

YES, my dear, I was looking at their windows a few days ago, and they certainly are up-to-the-minute.

I purchased a dozen of their KNOTAIN HOSE, spurs for each of us. Just think they guarantee them against wear for months, and that any or all of them will be replaced with new hose should they require darning within that period.

I purchased black, but they have them in Tan, Green, Red, Old Rose, London

ent colored shoes displayed in their where the altitude is high and health-giving, the views beautiful and magnificent almost unknown? Where the surroundings are healthy, fishing, and skating, and the nearby woods supply ing? Where your neighbors are refined and you have churches, schools and stores conveniently near? Where the house plot is large enough for lawns, flowers, garden, fruit and rattling for profit such marketable products as mushrooms, honey, squabs, poultry, cereals, etc., besides supplying your own table with fresh milk, cream, butter, vegetables and eggs at practically no cost.

For the first time in the history of real estate subdivisions, the opportunity is now given to buy a fertile plot of 4,000 square feet (including water main, telephone, electric light, macadam street) for $1,000 - the price of one of the cheapest little lots in Summit. Others of 20,000 square feet as low as $600. We do not care so much about the terms; if you are lovers of

PROF. SUMNER OF YALE DIES OF APOPLEXY

Was Famous as Economist and Beloved by His Pupils.

Professor William Graham Sumner of Yale, famous as a political economist and greatly beloved by his pupils at the university, died of apoplexy at the home of his son at Englewood, N.
J., on Tuesday.

The attack which resulted in Professor Sumner's death occurred at the Murray Hill hotel in New York on Dec. 27. Professor Sumner was to have presided at the meeting of the American Sociological society, and in the evening he was to have dined with Andrew Carnegie at his house on Fifth avenue. The other guests were Mr.
Taft, Governor Hughes and Mayor Mc-Cellan.

He was professor of political and social science at Yale for thirty-seven years. He was born at Paterson, N.
J., in 1840. After graduating at Yale in 1863 he studied at Gottingen and at Oxford. From 1863 to 1869 he was a tutor at Yale, and then, having taken orders in 1867 in the Protestant Episcopal church, he was assistant in Calvary church, New York, and rector of the Church of the Redeemer at Morristown, N. J., until 1872, when he went back to Yale.

Especially prominent as a free trader and an advocate of the gold standard, Professor Sumner was the author of many works dealing with financial and historical subjects. His last work of note was a "History of Banking in the United States," which appeared in 1896.

About ten years ago Professor Sumner in a lecture to the senior class at Yale provoked a storm of criticism by declaring that in his belief fully 90 per cent of the marriages of the day turned out unhappily, that marriage had become not a matter of love, but more a matter of course, and that many young men did not wait to find an ideal, but thought it the right thing to marry when they reached a certain age.

HARTRIDGE LOSES SUIT.

Threatened With Disbarment For $93,- 000 Claim on Mrs. Thaw.

Harry K. Thaw and his mother, Mary Copley Thaw, were successful on Wednesday in the latest round of the legal fight they have been engaged in for the past five years.
A jury in the United States circuit court decided that Clifford W. Hart-ridge, an attorney who defended Thaw during his first trial, was not entitled to any part of the $93,000 he claimed for unpaid services. He has already collected $103,000 for his work.

Hartridge was not only refused additional counsel fee, but was rebuked by Judge Holt for his conduct during the preparation of Thaw's defense and is threatened with disbarment.

The court directed an investigation to determine if Hartridge had been guilty of unprofessional conduct. Assistant District Attorney McCormick was assigned to ascertain if the lawyer deserved to be punished for obstructing justice by suppressing evidence and getting witnesses out of the state.

Hartridge alleged that about $40,000 was spent for "hushing" testimony that would have been detrimental to Thaw. He charged $30,000 for interviewing about 200 girls of the Tenderloin.

TO PROBE LEGISLATURE.

Governor Hughes Urges Thorough Investigation of Graft Charges.

Governor Hughes recommended to the New York legislature on Monday that a joint legislative committee be appointed to carry forward the fire insurance investigation and to thoroughly investigate legislative corruption.

In a message embracing a preliminary report on his own investigation from State Superintendent of Insurance Hotchkiss Governor Hughes asked the legislature especially to look into the stock accounts of legislators with Wall street brokers. The governor added:

The revelations in the inquiry recently conducted by the senate and the facts brought to light by the superintendent of insurance make it imperative that there should be a thorough investigation with respect to legislative processes and as to the corrupt practices which have been effectual in advancing or blocking legislation. These disclosures have caused every honest citizen to tingle with shame and indignation and have made irresistible the demand that every proper means should be employed to purge and to purify.

Practice and Preaching.

When the late Bishop Hare was presiding over a Methodist Episcopal church in New York city a large reception was given in his honor to which a brother of his, a lawyer, who closely resembled the bishop, was invited.

During the evening a member of the conference who had never met the bishop's brother approached him and, shaking him warmly by the hand,
said:

"Good evening, Bishop Hare. I greatly enjoyed the sermon you gave today. It is just what this church needs."

"You are mistaken in the person,"
said the brother, smiling, as he pointed to the bishop on the opposite side of the room, "that is the man who preaches. I practice."

SUMMIT, N. J.

DEAR MADAM:
I afford me much pleasure to present to you the style novelties for Spring 1910. Many more may be inspected at my establishment.
My garments are characterized by individuality, by which I mean that I study the individual requirements of each customer and design costumes in which the style, materials and color combination are in harmony with the figure of each. Suggestions from patrons are always duly considered and personal wishes as to the details of work are carried out whenever practicable. This gives patrons the satisfaction of possessing thoroughly up-to-date garments which express more or less of their own individuality and taste.
All work is executed on the premises by men tailors under my personal supervision, thus assuring artistic and superior workmanship.
I have successfully solved the difficult problem of producing the very highest grade of work at minimum cost and give my patrons the benefits of my economy. This explains why my prices are so moderate and why you receive better value at my establishment than elsewhere. Your trial order is respectfully solicited, and I invite you to call whether you are ready to place your order or not.
Thanking you for past favors, and soliciting the continuance of same, I am,
Yours respectfully,
J. M. KRONFIELD.

REHEARING IN OIL AND TOBACCO SUITS

U. S. Supreme Court Is Divided; Trusts Gain Time.

Chief Justice Fuller announced in the supreme court of the United States on Monday that the suits of the government for the dissolution of the Standard Oil company and the American Tobacco company had been assigned for rehearing. The announcement means that the arguments will be heard all over again some time next fall, and it also indicates that the Standard Oil company and the American Tobacco company are the winners in the litigation up to this time. Justice Lurton, the newest associate supreme court justice, was mainly responsible for the decision of the court to reconsider the cases. The late Justice Brewer was one of the four who favored a decision in favor of the government, and Justice Lurton, with three other members, was of the opinion that the final decree should be for the trusts. The death of Justice Brewer left the balance on the side of the trusts. Then Justice Lurton asked for a rehearing, feeling that since he held the deciding vote and was a new member of the court it would be best to take such course.

GENERAL NEWS. Following the lead of the Rev. George W. Riddout, pastor of Wesley M. E. church of Trenton, N. J., who was the first minister to condemn the New Jersey assemblymen for their closing hour revelry with whiskey and women, the Methodist ministers of Trenton and vicinity passed resolutions demanding an investigation of the debauchery and condemning the entire legislature as being under the domination of the liquor interests of the state.

Jewels valued at $20,000 which were stolen in Washington from Mrs. Frederick Bugher, wife of the deputy police commissioner of New York, were recovered when Clarence Howlett, one of the most notorious gem thieves, was arrested in Baltimore. Howlett had worked as butler in Admiral Ludlow's house when Mrs. Bugher was a guest.

Judge Lawton in the Middlesex county probate court at Boston decided against the claim of a North Dakota man who for seven months had been fighting to establish his identity as Daniel Blake Russell as heir to the

The collection of pictures of the late Charles T. Yerkes was sold at auction in New York for $2,034,450. Franz Hals' "Portrait of a Woman" brought $137,000, Turner's "Rockets and Blue Lights" $120,000 and Corot's "Fisher-man" $50,500.

Justice Walter H. Jaycox of the supreme court in New York annulled the marriage of Rufus W. Gaynor, son of Mayor Gaynor of New York, to Maria Odo on the ground that she had been married before, her real name being Mary Guffin.

The Borough bank of Brooklyn, which failed in the panic of 1907 and which was reorganized, closed its doors because of a great mass of unwieldy assets inherited from the former management.

The Sulzberger & Sons company, meat packers of New York, was incorporated at Albany with a capital of $2,000,000 after it had taken over the plant and capital stock of the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger company.

Major General George M. Randall, U. S. A., retired, a veteran of the civil war, who entered the army as a private and worked his way up, was appointed by President Taft as governor of the Soldiers' home in Washington.

Harry Gissing, the New York Athletic club middle distance star, was dropped from the rolls of Company F, Twenty-second regiment, engineers, because he failed to appear for the regiment's annual inspection.

Dissatisfied with the present administration of the Aero Club of America, many of the members held a conference in New York and sent a letter to President Cortlandt F. Bishop demanding his resignation.

Governor Stuart of Pennsylvania presented a gold medal in behalf of the Geographical society of Philadelphia to Commander Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the north pole.

The house of representatives at Washington passed the naval appropriation bill, which provides for two new battleships of 27,000 tons displacement to cost $4,000,000 each.

New Britain, the second largest city in Hartford county, Conn., and normally a Republican stronghold, elected a Democrat, J. M. Halloran, for mayor by a plurality of 622.

President Taft, who joined the Masons before he became chief executive, attended a meeting of Naval Lodge No. 4 of Washington and was presented with a Masonic apron.

CRIMES. The Rev. Frank Skane, a prominent mission worker and associate editor of the Christian Journal, was shot and instantly killed as he was leaving the Congregational church in Wood's Run, a suburb of Newburgh, by a man known as "a renegade fanatic, who also shot and dangerously wounded John Gay, another mission worker, who was walking with Skane. In his sermon just before he was shot Skane declared that he was ready to lay down his life at any moment God should want it.

A jury in the criminal court at Watseka, Ill., returned a verdict in the case of Mrs. Lucy Sayler, John Grunden, her father, and Dr. William Miller, accused of manslaughter in the death of banker J. Byron Sayler at Crescent City. Miller was found guilty and sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment. Mrs. Sayler was also declared guilty, but escaped with a three year sentence, and Grunden was acquitted.

In a fight between the On Leong tong and the new organization of the Four Brothers, which rose recently in New York to supplant the old Hip Sing tong, and to dispute with Tom Lee's organization the gambling monopoly of Chinatown, two Chinamen were killed, and a third was seriously wounded.

Dr. L. W. Hart, a prominent physician and mayor of Morehouse, Mo., was shot and killed by C. B. Hay, editor of the Morehouse Hustler, as a result of a quarrel started three years ago, when Editor Hay printed something offensive about Dr. Hart.

Maurice Vanden Dries, a leading amateur bicycle rider, was killed while training at the Velodrome track in Newark, N. J. His wheel shot from the track at the end of a sprint, and the left side of his body crashed into an electric light pole.

A fire at Camden, N. J., caused by the crossing of electric wires, gutted the office building of the New York Shipbuilding company, and plans for battleships to be constructed for the Argentine Republic and for this country were destroyed.

Five masked men, three of whom were later captured, after binding a night marshal and an engineer blew open the safe of the Bank of Coal City, Ill., wrecked the building and escaped with more than $5,000 in money and stamps.

The country place of Oliver Gould Jennings, near Fairfield, Conn., was swept by flames, and $125,000 damage was done. A string of horses, blooded cattle and prize winning dogs were saved.

Fourteen men were killed and one fatally injured by a premature explosion of dynamite at a construction camp on the Teaco extension of the Santa Fe railroad, near Novite, Tex.

Frank Blanchard, a well known produce broker connected for many years with the Fruit and Produce Trade association, committed suicide by inhaling gas in a hotel in New York.
